Fulton Theatre To Give Film Acceptability Ratings

The Fulton Theatre will, start immediately, advertising the acceptability ratings of the films which will be shown in the future, and leave the decision up to the parents whether or not their children should attend a particular show.

The move by the Fulton Theatre was hailed by all segments of the community as a giant step forward in bringing about wholesome entertainment for our young people.

"We appreciate it more than we can say," a member of the ministerial association said today.

The "Green Sheet" rating will be used. This rating is a consensus of a film board made up of representatives of these organizations:

American Jewish Committee, American Library Association, Daughters of the American Revolution, Federation of Motion Picture Councils, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Council of Women, National Federation of Music Clubs, Protestant Motion Picture Council, Schools Motion Picture Committee.

During the past few years the complexion of motion picture productions has changed quite a bit.

For years, motion pictures were usually directed to the entire family. Now just as books are written for children, general consumption, and some adult reading, so are the movies.

Just as change in dress and other forms of expression have changed and become more frank, so have motion pictures, especially those intended for adult audiences.

"It will be our intention throughout our publicity to advise parents regarding the nature of the contents in the motion pictures to be shown," said Lewis Bizzle, manager. The theatre in no way intends to take over parental responsibility, or supervision, but will advise the parents and leave it to their judgement.

The theatre will show the classification of each movie in the following manner:

- "A" rating for adults
- "MY" rating for mature young people
- "Y" rating for young people
- "GA" rating for general audience (family)
- "C" rating for children, unaccompanied
- "NCA" rating for pictures on which no classification is available.

Can't quite figure out whether the remark was a compliment or an insult, but somebody said to me the other day that I must be getting old, because my writings indicate a mellowness; an apparent desire to stay out of the fire of controversy.

That I am getting old is true. When somebody asks my age these days I pretend that I just can't remember the year I was born, which in itself is an admission of creeping senility.

But if my writings have taken on the image of advocating nothing but motherhood, the flag and apple pie, it's certainly not because I'm trying to avoid criticism. Heavens forbid.

I am still the person who believes that if you ever see an editor who pleases everybody, he will be neither sitting nor standing, and there will be lots of flowers around him.

Actually, for the past several months I have rather enjoyed the community relations experiment that I conceived for myself and for this newspaper. Having been so actively involved in the Banana Festival, where it was so vital to have the whole-hearted support and cooperation of every able-bodied citizen, I had neither the time nor the inclination to do much newspapering, much less any "in depth" research into the usual unpleasant news stories that crop up in every community from time to time.

My "experiment" was to work with, and alongside of, people in all walks of life in this community to determine where the real heart-beat and love and pride for this community is really concentrated.

After the last-remnant of the Banana Festival was put away and the matter of writing "thank you" notes to the hundreds of loyal workers began, I was reminded anew that the progress and growth of the twin cities has come about not because of, but in spite of, a hand full of people who are conspicuously absent when the hard work is being done, but who are prominently evident when it comes time to bask in the lime-light brought about by somebody's else's sweat.

But you know who complained of exhaustion when the Festival was over? It was not the folks who drove nails, arranged the programs, sold tickets, licked envelopes, drove cars, handled the traffic, set up chairs, decorated Cabana City, built art displays, cleaned dirty buildings, painted signs, put up street decorations, gave away bananas, manned food concessions, gave hospitality to our thousands of visitors, planned a parade, a beauty pageant, a talent show, a music fiesta, cleaned Festival headquarters on occasion, spear-headed a transportation system, acted as father confessor and care-takers of the marimba band, etc. etc. etc.

It was the very few people who do not know the joy of getting up early, work all day, and consider a day well done when some worthy deed is done.

Anyhow, I'm far from getting mellow. Where my newspaper duties are concerned, I'm going to write the news as it happens.

Bananas Battle Communism In That Old Kentucky Home

One of the more intriguing items in the recent news had to do with the crowning of Miss Cynthia Gray Vincent, 15-year-old freshman at the University of Mississippi, as the International Banana Festival Princess in Fulton, Ky.

So what is an International Banana Festival doing in Fulton, Ky?

The Chamber of Commerce phone in Fulton did not answer (utterly exhausted after the banana festival), but city hall did and the operator there had the number of the Banana Festival corporation at her finger tips.

A Mrs. Pawlukiewicz, as best we could work out the spelling on a telephone connection, is the festival's executive director. She sees no reason whatsoever why a banana festival should be held anywhere except in Fulton, Ky.

"Fulton is the Banana Crossroads of America," she maintains. "ALL BANANAS that come into the United States through Gulf of Mexico ports are shipped to Fulton." (Even the ones destined for the street markets of New Orleans? Well no. But virtually all.)

In Fulton, the bananas are loaded or re-loaded, then shipped all over the country. Approximately two billion pounds of bananas pass through Fulton, Ky., in a year's time.

THE INTERNATIONAL Banana Festival started four years ago when a Fulton citizen named Nathan Wade dreamed up the idea and pushed it through.

The Princess competition is part of the big show. This year, the runner-up in the Miss Alaska contest came to participate (pushing bananas in Alaska?).

Many Latinos come. In Operation Amigo, Fulton has hosted some 50 children from eight Latin countries in the last two years.

Musicians for the festival come from the Guatemalan Army Marimba band.

The whole thing, says Mrs. Pawlukiewicz, is Fulton's way of combating communism in Latin America, where Fultonites believe it intends to get its next foothold.

AN EDITORIAL IN DAYTON . . . Almost every day somebody brings us an article published about the Banana Festival from some far off newspaper. The editorial above was handed to us by Bill Fossett that was sent to him by a relative. This is an answer to the hand full of critics of the Festival . . . "Why would a Dayton newspaper write about Fulton if all it did was seek industry?" Every community in America is doing that . . . but it takes a real program like the Banana Festival to get this kind of attention from American and South American news media.

Dear Friends:

The Commission on Christian Social Concerns of First Methodist Church wishes to take this means of conveying to you our sincere congratulations for a job exceptionally well done and to commend you for your action in spearheading the drive to send Christmas packages to our servicemen in Vietnam.

It is our feeling that this project was one of Christian love in action. We are aware that the packages contained far more than material gifts. The message they will convey of concern, compassion, and gratitude will be of inestimable value to those men sharing these packages from home.

We appreciate the part which you played to lead this project through to successful completion.

Sincerely,
Commission on Christian Social Concerns

'Spiritual Energy' Will Be Examined At Christian Science Public Lecture

Gertrude E. Velguth
Christian Science Lecturer

the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The question "Where Does Energy Come From?" will be examined from the Christian Science point of view at a public lecture in Fulton on Friday, November 18th.

Gertrude E. Velguth, C. S., a Christian Science practitioner from Flint, Michigan, will be the speaker, under sponsorship of First Church of Christ Scientist. The lecture will begin at 8:00 p. m. in the church edifice located at 211 Carr Street, Fulton, Kentucky.

The lecture offers an explanation of "spiritual energy" and describes it as the basic divine force that impels human progress and changes people's lives.

Mrs. Velguth entered the public practice of Christian Science healing in 1945, resigning her position as chairman of a high school arts department in Flint, Michigan. She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Eastern Michigan College. She is currently a member of

South Fulton Audit Shows Robust Financial Condition

"All records were found to be in good order and the reports show that progress is being made in the control of operations in the various departments of the city," Jay Nichols, a public accountant reported in making a thorough audit of the financial affairs of the City of South Fulton, Tennessee.

A close review of the auditor's report of the Tennessee city reveals that collections in all departments of the general fund show an increase, with the most sizeable increase in the amounts received for the collection of garbage.

Here are the figures:

	1966	1965
Water	41,205.35	40,515.31
Sewer	20,452.63	20,184.34
Garbage	15,126.75	12,676.00

"Figures don't lie," is an old and true axiom and it is made abundantly clear that South Fulton is a city on the move, efficiently operated, vitally interested in community promotion and progress.

Prior to the change-over to the council-manager form of government, under which both Fulton and South Fulton operate, municipal expenditures for such items as industrial procurement, advertising and promotion and participation in over-all civic affairs was a "taboo" subject in a municipal budget.

Now, both communities are as much a part of the development of community projects as is the Chamber of Commerce, and with financial assistance, too.

And why not?
Gone is the taxpayer who frowns on justifiable expenditures when such monies are expended to make these communities more progressive and more economically sound.

This emphasis on community development is made clear in the cash position of the City of South Fulton. The audit revealed that as of June 30, 1966 the city had in cash and invested funds a total of

A special meeting for all citizens will be held at the City Hall, Monday, November 21st, at 7 P. M. The purpose of this meeting is for representatives of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, City Planners, to explain to you, the citizens, about this very important project.

$159,105.67, a decrease of $10,892.65. Yet, the audit also reveals that a total of $39,598.00 was spent for capital investments, which are not operating disbursement items.

The $39,598.00 figure includes: Remodeling of council room $1442; new fire truck $4500; a 1966 Dodge automobile $1299; a 1966 Ford $2596; an accounting machine $7203; complete renovation of water system, including treatment and two new pumps, $25,000.00. When (Cost used on Page eight)

Larry Ader Hard-Working Chairman Of Annual Drive For Boy Scout Funds

The Four Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced the appointment of Larry Ader as Community Campaign Chairman for the Boy Scout Finance Campaign to be held November 12 through the 26 in the Fulton-South Fulton Area.

Mr. Ader will be ably assisted by Ray Williams as Assistant Community Campaign Chairman; Louis Weeks, Special Gifts Chairman; Mrs. Richard Bodker, Publicity; Nelson Tripp, Prospects and Rating Chairman; Joe Johnson, General Solicitations Chairman; Dr. John L. Jones, Arrangements Chairman, and J. D. Faulkner, Audit Chairman.

Joe Johnson, General Solicitations Chairman will be recruiting workers throughout this week.

The Boy Scouts of America is not a recreational movement; rather, it is an educational program dedicated to the responsibility of building better men for our community, our country and the world. As an educational movement the Boy Scout of America benefits the entire community, contributing to the general welfare of all people just as does education.

In keeping with this aim, Scouting is open to all boys who have the desire to join. Any boy can become a member by paying the normal membership fee and subscribing to a few fundamental principles. The appeal of Scouting for boys lies in the opportunity it offers for doing things that are adventuresome and worthwhile, that give a boy a sense of achievement.

Fulton County Gives Senator John Sherman Cooper A Deserving Majority; We Like Mrs. Cooper Too!

Fulton County, like every county except one (Logan) in the First District gave Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper a resounding majority in his bid for re-election last week. It was, as we said in reporting the election returns, "an historic victory" for the distinguished Senator who moved the "Democratic Rock of Gibraltar" into the Republican column for the first time since the eight-county Purchase District was deeded to Kentucky by the Chickasaws in 1818.

And why shouldn't Fulton County have given Senator Cooper a victory? Here is a man who knows no party lines in the exemplary conduct of his office in Washington. For years now Fultonians and Fulton Counties have called upon likeable and able Senator Cooper for all kinds of assistance (and received it) in local projects where Federal help is needed.

Nobody knows that better than the editors and publishers of this newspaper. Not only does Senator Cooper pave every way for whatever assistance is asked, but the request is joined in enthusiastically by the dynamic and equally able Mrs. Cooper.

The success of the International Banana Festival has been achieved with the help of many outside interest. Our own Congressmen Frank Albert Stubblefield and Robert A. "Fats" Everett and the Coopers have worked untiringly to coordinate our international relations program with the State Department, the White House and all other governmental interests.

Doc Townsend's Give-Away Plan Of Thirty Years Ago Makes Him Look Like Miser Compared To Now

Remember old Doc Townsend? Thirty years ago the doctor made headlines and pin money by proposing that the government give $65 a month to everybody over 65.

Unfortunately for Doc Townsend, he was born 30 years too soon. Even in the midst of a depression, the country was not ready for his brand of liberalism. Today we may be. In fact, today's schemes make the good doctor look like a penny pinching piker.

The latest liberal thought is that the government should guarantee an income to everyone with enough gumption to reach in the mailbox for his dole. The amount of the income varies from $3000 a year up, depending on which liberal thinker was the last to take a puff from the pipe.

But why stop here? If being born entitles a man to a sizeable income, then running a business should entitle a company to a reasonable profit. This is obvious. If companies don't make a profit, they can't hire the people who must pay the taxes to provide the money the government will need to write the checks for those who stay home and wait for payment.

A reasonable profit is, say, 10 percent. Accordingly, the government should guarantee everyone who

We say "the Coopers," because "Lorraine," as she is called by her intimates, has become so interested in our Banana Festival that its fame is spreading all over Washington in the highest diplomatic circles.

Well do we recall the many times that we talked with such distinguished ambassadors as Ellsworth Bunker, Douglas McArthur II, Jack Hood Vaughn and others, only to have them say: "Mrs. Cooper has told me all about your Festival, and asked me to help wherever I can."

The distinguished State Department grantees did not come here by happenstance. It is not possible that any Banana Festival official could have gone to Washington to talk about this distinguished cultural program without having the door opened a little bit by our elected representatives.

Mrs. Cooper, with the aid and concurrence of her eminent husband, often pried open doors that are firmly closed to all but the most top level diplomats and government big-wigs.

Yes indeed, we are gratified that Fulton County showed its respect for the distinguished gentleman from Somerset by giving him a respectable majority at the polls.

Of course any majority would have been rather unusual for a Republican around here... for this is Democratic country.

At least it was... and that's a good bone for the Democratic powers to gnaw on.

Anyhow, congratulations Senator and Mrs. Cooper on your well deserved victory. It couldn't happen to nicer people or better friends of this county and this Commonwealth.

starts a business a 10 per cent profit. Let's assume the average company pays half of its income in wages, and the average worker earns $5000 a year. A company, then, should take in $10,000 each year for every worker, and for every worker the government should guarantee the company $1,000, or 10 percent profit.

Assume you want to start a business and plan to hire ten people. You make your plans known to the government and the government immediately guarantees you $10,000. If you are more ambitious and want to hire 100 workers, you'd be entitled to a government guarantee of $100,000, under such a scheme. In fact, there's no limit to ambition, or would there be to your government guaranteed income. And why should there be?

The government pays people for not working and pays people for not growing crops. It's brilliant of you for wanting to hire people.

For fulfillment this plan must come from the right people. Therefore with a sacrificed pride of authorship it is commended to those who would divide the nation's wealth productivity. In their hands it cannot fail. Its possibilities are limitless. If $3,000 a year or a ten per cent profit will make men happy, why not double all antes and make everyone hilarious?

On the other hand, maybe we should forget the whole thing. After all, many of the give-away schemes started out as someone's idea of a joke.

POET'S CORNER

GET IT DONE

It isn't the job we intended to do
Or the labor we've just begun
That puts us right on the balance sheet,
It's the work we have really done.

Our credit is built upon things we do,
Our debit on things we shirk,
The man who totals the biggest plus
Is the man who completes his work.

Intentions alone do not pay up our bills,
It is easy enough to plan
To wish is the play of an office boy,
To do is the work of a man.

Yesterday - is a cancelled check;
Tomorrow - is a promissory note;
Today - is ready cash, spend it wisely.

—From Sam Holly's Scrapbook

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

FRANKFORT—

The approval of Federal grants that will eventually total about $2.14 million to help in the construction of a 12-station educational television (ETV) network is one of the most encouraging and promising things that has happened to Kentucky in recent weeks.

Total cost of the network will be about $8.5 million, with the state providing its share from the sale of revenue bonds.

This all means that we will go on the air June, 1968, and by September of that year, ETV signals will be finding their way into everyone of Kentucky's 2,300 public and private schools.

More than 776,500 children from the first grade level through high school will have the opportunity to benefit from such courses as remedial reading, basic mathematics, and college algebra.

Adults will benefit, too, with courses in business education, shorthand, teacher training, and other job-oriented subjects.

And one of the most important phases of this program will be its no-charge feature. No school—public or private—will have to pay for the service. The only cost will be for TV sets.

Kentucky, with 12 transmitters, will have the largest, most comprehensive statewide network in the United States. Presently, only one-third of the states have ETV networks, so we feel very fortunate in being able to look forward to working with such a valuable tool. The Kentucky stations will be at Pikeville, Ashland, Somerset, Hazard, Morehead, Lexington, Madisonville, Elizabethtown, Murray, Bowling Green, Owensboro and Covington. Federal funds for 11 stations already have been approved. Approval for Covington, the 12th, is expected soon.

The overwhelming defeat of the revised state constitution proposed for adoption in the Nov. 8 election came as a heavy blow to all its proponents. I can only say at this time, as I said immediately after the election, that the people have spoken and we must cheerfully and in good grace abide by their verdict.

However, in 1947, I enlisted in the fight for a better constitution, and that enlistment is still in effect.

Most leading opponents of the proposed revision said they favored the idea generally but opposed certain provisions of the 1966 draft. In this spirit I now call upon all Kentuckians to join in a renewed study of our constitution, because no issue is ever settled until it is settled right.

In my belief, the most tragic occurrence of the November election was the death less than two days before of John J. Moloney, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Fourth Kentucky District, the most touching was the acceptance by incumbent Frank Chelf, of his party's call in its hour of need to fill the vacancy on the ballot. Frank had previously announced his retirement.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

For our library news this week, we won't take just one category of books to write about, but a few at random from our new supply.

Some of these books are as follows:

HELENA RUBINSTEIN: MY LIFE FOR BEAUTY. This book is both her legacy and her odyssey. In it, she gives away a unique and priceless treasury of beauty secrets. In it, with a candor that she never previously allowed herself in print, she tells the story of her incredibly eventful and successful life.

THE SECRET OF SANTA VITORIA. by Robert Crichton. This is a big dramatic novel—roaringly human, comic, serious. It is about war, love, laughter and intrigue—it is about courage and cowardice, and about ordinary men rising to great heights in extraordinary times.

TINKERBELLE. by Robert Manry. This book tells how a dream became a deed: how a middle-aged, married and presumably sober copy editor of the Plain Dealer, of Cleveland, Ohio, happened to get the idea of sailing across the Atlantic in a small boat, Tinkerbell, and how he executed the voyage that made his idea a reality.

THE ROMAN. by Mika Waltari. A magnificent story of the Roman world in the time of the Emperors Claudius and Nero. It is a superb reconstruction of a time gone by—capturing all its color, drama, beauty and menace.

THE TIME BETWEEN THE WARS. by Jonathan Daniels. Mr. Daniels tells the story of the "boom and the bust" years primarily in terms of people. Some of them were scoundrels, some heroes, a great many were unusual.

THE SEARCH FOR AMELIA EARHART. by Fred Goerner. What happened to Amelia Earhart? Was she lost at sea? Was she captured by the Japanese? Was she a spy? This book has a detective-story quality in its account of the author's search for the truth behind the mystery.

THE MUSIC SCHOOL. by John Updike. This is a collection of short stories and are brilliant revelations of character through small incidents and suggest the quality of the world they tell about.

THE TRACES OF MERRILEE. by Bill Gullick. This is a trail of America's sexiest movie star (Merrilee), her fears of a fate worse than death, her nightmares that and often dying as they build a new, literally come true, and a Hollywood conspiracy that could baffle the C.I.A. — all packed into one of the wittiest, most tightly plotted mysteries of the year.

HOW TO AVOID PROBATE. by Norman Dacey. This book will revolutionize estate administration in America. It tells you how to avoid the delay, expense and publicity of probate of your home, your bank account, etc.

THE DRIVE WITHIN ME. by Bob Pettit. In this fascinating book about basketball, Pettit tells everything he learned on the way up. He shows once and for all that great players are not born — they are made, and by themselves, mostly.

HOUSE ON GREENAPPLE ROAD. by Harold R. Daniels. This is a brilliant procedural detective story.

THEY CAME TO A VALLEY. by Bill Gullick. This is an intriguing story, a human drama of the town builders, the little people and the politicians; all struggling, planning than death, her nightmares that and often dying as they build a new, literally come true, and a Hollywood Fall classes included students from all 50 of the United States and more than a dozen foreign countries.

Question!... What's Happened To The Old Feeling For Old Glory

What's happened to respect and courtesy for our Flag?

Maybe you can answer this. I cannot.

All I know is that in recent years it seems that "old-time" courtesy has nearly disappeared — not quite, but just about.

A few days ago was one of the 16 days for everyone to display the American Flag — the Fourth of July. Of all the 16, the Fourth to me seems the most important. . . probably because the original version of the Flag was officially adopted at about the time our country gained its independence.

If your town — the homes, the business places — was like my town (Lincoln) the display of the Flag the Fourth of July was probably given about the same degree of courtesy, and respect. Being a native Nebraskan I would guess that your town, whether it be little Brewster, County Seat Neligh, or Metropolitan Omaha, gave it about the same "treatment" and display.

At noon the Fourth on a drive from my office in downtown Lincoln to my home (3 1-2 miles) I took time to count the Flags displayed on homes. I didn't count the number of homes, but the number of Flags displayed was 21. I would guess that I passed at least 300 homes, probably more since there are some blocks with 5 or 6 homes on each side of the street. Twenty-one Flags displayed out of 300-plus homes. That figures about one to 15 homes.

I will admit that the percentage was much higher — a great deal higher — at business places in Lincoln. This was probably true in your town, too.

What has happened?

Time was — when I was a youngster — that most every home displayed the American Flag, on the Fourth or any other proper day — in the yard, on the porch, on a staff. In Neligh we figured that those few homes which did not display the Flag were occupied by the real poor who actually couldn't afford one. Yet, there were homes where people lived displaying the Flag on holidays that we knew couldn't afford enough food for children, clothing to keep them warm in the winter, shoes to protect their feet in all kinds of weather. There were homes displaying the Flag whose occupants never had enough money to go to movies. There were homes displaying the Flag wherein lived honest, respectable men, women and children who never, in their entire lives, had an automobile. But they displayed their Flag.

What has happened? Now that hasn't been too long ago — 30 to 40 years. But it is "different" today.

My personal feeling is that the Flag, and our Country and our heritage are "taken for granted," like so many other things. For this I feel there is no excuse.

I suppose if I were editor of the local newspaper — in a large or small town — I would try to correct it. I would feel it was part of my duty to encourage my readers to return to the "old-fashioned" way of patriotism to the Country which has given me more than my share of everything, to the Country which has given me the chance to be what I want to be, depending on God-given ambition and ability.

I suppose if I were an editor today I would do all I could through my editorial, news and personal columns to encourage displaying the Flag. I suppose I'd even run a most attractive house ad (that type of ad paid for and sponsored by my newspaper) to encourage the flying of the Flag.

And, I would probably go even further.

I would hope that there would be some other individuals or organizations in my town who felt as strongly on this — or more so — than I. If so, I would join with them in an effort to have the Flag displayed at every home and in front of (or on) every business place in town.

If not, I would hope I would take the time, money and effort to lead the "drive."

With a leader — whether it be an editor, a minister, a banker, or a "common laborer," or whether it be the commander of the local American Legion or VFW post, or any other organization — a campaign could be organized and carried to a successful completion to "organize" the flying of the Flag on the majority of homes and business places in every city and village in Nebraska . . . and all of the other 49 states . . . and I'd bet my life on it.

Under one leader, whether that leader be an individual or an organization, area "colonels" could be named. Under the colonels, there could be area "captains." Under the captains could be "block sergeants." It is not unlikely at all that through such an organization every home and every business in any town could be contacted.

The proper 16 days to fly Old Glory are:

New Year's Day January 1
Inauguration Day January 20
Lincoln's Birthday February 12
Washington's Birthday February 22
Easter Sunday
Mother's Day 2nd Sunday in May
Armed Forces Day 3rd Sat. in May
Memorial Day Half staff until noon, May 30
Flag Day June 14
Independence Day July 4
Labor Day 1st Mon. in September
Citizenship Day September 17
Columbus Day October 12
Veterans Day November 11
Thanksgiving Day 4th Thursday in November
Christmas Day December 25

Rules for proper display of the Flag can be found in numerous places . . . in various encyclopedias, Boy Scout Manual, World Almanac, many dictionaries . . . and in case you have none of these, your town library or local school library can supply that information.

This ends an old-fashioned man's way of the thinking about the American Flag. I hope it doesn't end additional thought to this corny idea of paying just a minimal respect to the symbol of a country that has given us all the opportunity to be free men and women.

Local Industries Invited To Procurement Conference

The Kentucky Science and Industry Procurement Conference is set for November 17 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Executive Inn in Louisville. Industrialists in the Fulton area are urged to attend the meeting.

The conference will show how to sell the federal government, either finished products or components on a contract basis, or through subcontracts with prime contractors.

The Louisville Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with the Kentucky Department of Commerce, the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Kentucky in making this conference available to Kentucky manufacturers, suppliers, contractors, and businessmen.

The United States Government will have representatives of every major purchasing division of its procurement system on hand at the conference. Practically every item manufactured in Kentucky falls into categories purchased by agencies of the federal government.

Even building and remodeling contracts, as well as maintenance and supply contracts, are available through the General Services Administration. GSA will be represented at the conference.

Of special interest at the conference will be $75 million in current Invitations to Bid and Requests for Proposals on hand with Army, Navy, Air Force, and Defense Supply Agency counselors. These will include a number of "small purchase" ($2,500 and under) packages currently available for award.

In addition, seminars on how to prepare to bid or proposal to a government contract will be held. Ten Defense prime contractors will be available to discuss subcontracting opportunities.

Other Federal agencies represented at the conference will include Atomic Energy Commission, Department of Agriculture, Department of Commerce, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Small Business Administration, and Veterans Administration.

Southern Bell Telephone Has Films, Programs, Lectures On Loan Basis

Southern Bell has just made available the 1967 catalog of films, programs, lecture - demonstrations, and booklets that can be obtained from the business office, according to Larry Ader, local manager. The new catalog lists a number of new films and lecture-demonstrations that are available from the telephone company on a free-loan basis.

"We feel that the films and programs included in the new catalog are some of the finest available anywhere, and some of the films have been awarded special recognition by the film industry," said Ader. For the safety-minded, two new safety films explore causes of back injury and slips and falls. "Facts About Backs" demonstrates proper lifting positions and gives some "Do's and Don'ts" about carrying heavy objects and exercising. "Slips and Falls" is a light approach to the serious problem of the hazards one encounters every day which could lead to serious injury resulting from slips and falls.

"Beyond All Barriers" is perhaps one of the finest films ever produced and has been duly recognized in international film competition. The demand for this film has been so great that Ader advises you to place your request some time in advance.

The Leonard Bernstein Youth Concert Series has been expanded to include four new offerings. Ader states that these films "visually describe, explain, illustrate, and demonstrate a variety of musical compositions." Audiences to these films are not only youth, as they have been popular with adults, as well.

Popular lecture-demonstrations are still available and more have been added. All the programs are designed to be entertaining as well as informative. They are made available by the telephone company without charge to clubs, civic organizations, schools, churches, and other groups. Ader says to make arrangements to borrow films, and other materials, simply contact your Southern Bell business office. "But," Ader cautions, "to avoid disappointment, please place your requests for programs as far in advance as possible and include alternate dates or alternate programs."

Does Festival Story Travel 'Round? Here's How

Beauteous Vicki Hurd, reigning Miss Tennessee and last year's Banana Festival Princess chats here with famed Dr. Leonardo Tejada, a Festival visitor and famous artist and architect. Dr. Tejada talks with Princess Vicki about the design of the Latin-American Friendship Center which the Civic Center Authority has asked the famous artist to assist in designing. In a telephone conversation with Dr. Tejada, the Civic Center Authority chairman learned that he would be returning to his home in Ecuador today, but will be available for local consultation when the time comes.

All over Ecuador the word of the Festival will travel through the Kentucky Partners of the Alliance. Shown here with Princess Vicki are Robert Hensley, chairman of the Kentucky Partners and Hasty Riddle, executive director of the Kentucky Hospital Association, both of whom attended the Festival.

BANANA FESTIVAL HITS LEXINGTON — This miniature float depicting Fulton's Banana Festival was entered in Fayette County's Little Kentucky State Fair by Lin Eckdahl, a seventh-grade student at Jessie M. Clark Junior High School. The float builder is a granddaughter of Mrs. Lera Weatherspoon, Fulton, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eckdahl, Lexington. Mrs. Eckdahl is the former Mary Norma Weatherspoon. The float won a third-place white ribbon.

Yule Package For Soldiers To Be Airlifted

Postmaster Treas today announced that henceforth all first class mail, personal sound recordings (voice letters), and parcels weighing 5 pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be airlifted on a space available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas.

Also, under Public Law 89-725—The Dulski Military Mail Act—which was signed by President Johnson on November 2, 1966, second class publications such as newspapers and magazines published weekly or more often, and featuring current news of interest to the military, will be airlifted from San Francisco to the armed forces serving in Viet Nam.

Postmaster Treas explained that parcels weighing 5 pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth combined, paid at surface rates, will be moved by surface transportation within the United States from the points of mailing to the port of embarkation.

To speed up separation and delivery of these smaller parcels falling within this category, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien directed that all parcels be clearly marked upon acceptance at the post office with the letters SAM (surface airlift mail).

This will eliminate the task of reweighing and measuring the parcels at the San Francisco Concentration Center prior to dispatch to Viet Nam or other overseas military port offices.

Postmaster Treas also reminded mailers that Christmas parcels weighing 5 pounds and under, though they are given airlift priority from San Francisco to Viet Nam on a space available basis, should be mailed no later than December 1. Airmail, he said, should be sent no later than December 10.

The deadline for Christmas packages weighing more than 5 pounds going to Viet Nam and other overseas military post offices by surface means is November 10.

Dr. Stanley Wall, for 10 years associate dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, has been named to a newly created position, associate dean of the University's community college system.

Highway Mishap Fatally Injures William Harrison

Funeral services for William H. Harrison, 55, of South Fulton, Tenn., who was killed in a car-tractor accident near Fulton late Saturday afternoon, were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Smith St. Church of Christ here.

Harold Neal and Kenneth Hoover will officiate. Burial was in Wesley Cemetery. Whitel Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Harrison, who retired as an Illinois Central Railroad conductor in February, 1962, was a member of the church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Edith Haygood Harrison; two daughters, Miss Doty Harrison of South Fulton and Mrs. Mary Lee Sutton of Charleston, S. C.; a brother, J. C. Harrison of Moscow, and five grandchildren.

Mr. Harrison was killed and two other men were injured when an automobile crashed into a parked trailer and tractor on Middle Road, two and one-half miles west of Fulton. The accident occurred about 5:45 p.m.

Mr. Harrison's cousin, Jeff Harrison, who was driver of the tractor, is in Fulton Hospital suffering from shock, lacerations on his head and other cuts and bruises.

Glenn Crittenden, 17, of South Fulton, who was driver of the automobile involved in the accident, also is in Fulton Hospital. He suffered head and ankle injuries.

Walter Bequette, Fulton Rf. 3, suffered a fractured neck shortly after the first accident when he ran his automobile into a ditch to keep from hitting the wreckage. He was admitted to Fulton Hospital.

Mental Health Problems Now Nation's Concern

"Waiting lists for State mental health facilities are not in any way peculiar to Kentucky," says Dr. Dale H. Farabee, Kentucky commissioner of mental health.

According to Farabee, "There are 31,400 mental retardates seeking institutional care in mental health facilities in the United States. They have not been able to gain admission because State facilities are filled to capacity."

"We have about 300 on our waiting list here in Kentucky, and it is growing at the rate of approximately 29 new applicants a year."

Figures from the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors show these waiting lists in other states: Tennessee, 2,000; Georgia, 1,800; Arkansas, 700; Indiana, 1,400; Illinois, 2,200; Ohio, 800 and Wisconsin, 200.

"Wisconsin has one of the best mental health programs in the country," says the commissioner, "but their waiting list is almost as long as ours."

There are only seven states or territories which have not reported waiting lists due to overcrowded conditions, he added. They are Rhode Island, Guam, Hawaii, Idaho, Oklahoma, Iowa and Nevada.

Time Remains To Get Free Diabetes Test

"Only a few more days are left in which Kentuckians can take advantage of the free urine sugar tests being offered by physicians, hospitals, and laboratories in Kentucky," Irving F. Kanner, M. D., Lexington, Chairman of the Kentucky Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, said today.

In cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, the KMA is sponsoring for the sixteenth year a Diabetes Detection and Education Week in Kentucky, during which time a concerted effort is being made to find as many as possible of the estimated 15,000 Kentuckians who unknowingly have diabetes.

All Kentuckians, even those who may have had the test a year ago, are urged by Doctor Kanner to take advantage of the free tests before the week is over, at which time the drive comes to a close.

Mt Carmel WMS Enjoys Meeting With Mrs. Bennett

The WMS of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening, November 10, in the home of Mrs. Charles Bennett with eight members and one visitor present.

The meeting was opened with a recitation of the watchword in union and prayer by Mrs. Hiram Brown. Devotional thoughts were taken from Matthew 13:33.

There was a very interesting and inspiring report on the Baptists in Japan, with all members taking part on the program. President, Mrs. Charles Bennett was in charge of the business session. Reports were given by all committee chairmen. A special report was given on the Clear Creek Baptist School. It was decided to send a donation this month to the school.

Plans were made to have a study of the book "Beneath the Himalayas" on November 29, with Miss Mabel Helm in charge of the discussion.

The program was closed with a prayer by Mrs. John Sheppard. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour that followed.

SYMPTOMS OF NEED

Heart attacks are almost unheard of among patients treated by a CARE-MEDICO hospital team in Santa Rosa de Copan, Honduras, probably due to the lack of animal protein in their diet and their physical labor. Malnutrition and intestinal parasites are the most common ills seen by the American doctors and nurses, whose work is supported by contributions to MEDICO, a service of CARE, 1720 West End Ave., Nashville, Tenn. 37203.

Student Hurt When Cycle, Car Collide

A South Fulton high school student was in critical condition a Fulton Hospital following an auto mobile-motorcycle collision near here Monday night.

Injured is Gary Ferguson, about 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Ferguson, South Fulton.

The accident occurred on Highway 51, one and one-half mile west of Fulton.

The car, driven by Barry Erwin, 24, Sharon, Tenn., was traveling west when it came up behind the motorcycle.

Mr. Erwin said he didn't see light on the cycle and was right behind Ferguson when he first saw him.

Erwin said he attempted to pass the boy but as he did the boy turned toward a wholesale florist shop on the left side of the highway striking the right front fender of the auto.

The motorcycle and the boy were over an embankment.

Erwin and Mr. and Mrs. Chue Beard, owners of the florist shop searched for the boy for several minutes before finding him lying face down in a foot of water in six-foot hole.

The boy was unconscious and reportedly had water in his lungs when he was examined at the hospital.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

FOOD NOTES

by
Mrs. Anna C. Thompson
Fulton County Home Demonstration Agent

THANKSGIVING

Here are some tips from USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service on buying major ingredients in the Great Thanksgiving Dinner, according to Mrs. Anna C. Thompson, Fulton County Home Demonstration Extension Agent.

TURKEYS — To get the most for your money, buy big turkeys — 14 pounds or heavier. Larger size turkeys have more meat in proportion to bone than the smaller birds, and they generally sell for a few pennies less per pound.

To be sure of tenderness, make sure the label says it's a young bird — young hen, young tom, or young turkey.

Look for the official USDA grade mark — it is your assurance of quality. Turkeys that carry the USDA Grade A mark must first be inspected for wholesomeness. A USDA Grade A turkey is the finest quality available—it is full fleshed, meaty, well finished, and has an attractive appearance.

For less traditional Thanksgiving turkey, consider a turkey roast. Turkey roasts — boneless turkey meat prepared in ready-to-cook form — have proven to be a highly popular food item. And you can buy USDA Grade A turkey roasts, too, prepared from the finest quality turkeys.

To make your turkey different, try a new stuffing recipe this year.

USDA food experts suggest that you buy at least ½ pound of ready-to-cook turkey with bone for each person you plan to serve, and make ½ cup stuffing for each pound of ready-to-cook turkey.

If you plan to use left overs for sandwiches, creamed turkey, and casserole dishes, you can double the turkey allowance. This will save time on other meals.

Here are some recipes from USDA food experts. Each recipe makes 4 cups of stuffing.

SAVORY BREAD STUFFING

3 tablespoons butter, margarine or poultry fat
¾ cup chopped celery
3-tablespoons chopped parsley
2-tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup soft breadcrumbs
½ teaspoon savory seasoning
½ teaspoon salt
pepper as desired
Melt fat in fry pan. Add celery, parsley, and onion. Cook until tender. Add fat and vegetables to breadcrumbs. Add seasonings. Mix lightly but well.

VARIATIONS

Oyster Stuffing — Omit celery and reduce parsley and onion to 1 tablespoon each. Add ½ pint oysters, heated in their own liquid and drained.
Nut Stuffing — Omit parsley and savory seasoning and add ½ cup chopped nutmeats — pecans, roasted almonds, filberts, or cooked chestnuts.

Cornbread Stuffing — Omit bread crumbs and savory seasoning. Add 4 cups cornbread crumbs and ½ teaspoon thyme.

SWEET POTATOES — There are two types: the moist, sweet type, called "yams" — and the dry type — lighter colored and less sweet. Choose sweet potatoes that are clean, smooth, well-shaped and firm.

Store sweetpotatoes at room temperature. They are sensitive to chilling injury at temperatures below 55 degrees.

Popular ways of fixing sweetpotatoes include baked, candied, mashed, in croquettes and pudding. A provocative idea: French fry your sweetpotatoes.

CRANBERRIES — Look great, taste great, and add that traditional touch to Thanksgiving. Look for plump, bright, firm berries that are uniformly well-colored. The only decision you have to make on cranberries is whether to use them fresh, frozen, or canned — as a relish or jelly.

RESULTS OF NEMATODE RESISTANT BEANS IN OBION COUNTY

Soybean cyst nematodes have caused thousands and thousands of dollar losses to Obion County bean growers. Without a doubt the soybean cyst nematode has been the most serious problem to soybean producers of this area.

Due to more favorable weather conditions the nematodes have not caused quite as much damage in 1966 as in some previous years. About 5,000 bushels of Pickett soybeans, which is resistant to nematodes, will be available to Tennessee Growers for the 1967 season.

During 1966 three experimental plots were in Obion County comparing the Hill variety of soybeans with a nematode resistant variety with about the same maturity date. The results of the experiments are as follows with yield check made on adjacent rows in nematode infested portions of the fields:

D. S. Orr Farm—
Nematode Resistant Beans - 27 bushels
Hill Beans - 9 bushels
Value of increase over check - $50.87 per acre
Alvin Ferguson Farm
Nematode Resistant Beans - 35 bushels
Hill Beans - 30 bushels
Value of increase over check - $14.17 per acre
W. S. Sellers - Farm -
Nematode resistant beans - 34 bushels
Hill Beans - 25 bushels
Value of increase over check - $25.76 per acre

STRONG CHOLERA PROGRAM

Kentucky is one of 25 states aiming at a "hog cholera free" status by 1972. The state is in phase three of a four-phase State-Federal program to eliminate the disease from the country. Phase three involves disposal of infected herds, with indemnification of owners for hogs destroyed because of cholera.

Cotton Quotas To Be Decided In Referendum

The upcoming referendum on marketing quotas for the 1967 crop of upland cotton will be conducted by mail during the period December 5 through 9, 1966.

This is the first time that growers have voted on marketing quotas by mail. It is hoped that this more convenient method will encourage a larger vote. Growers eligible to cast ballots in the referendum are all those who engaged in the production of the 1966 crop of upland cotton. Ballots will be sent to all growers who are on record in the ASCS county office.

The quotas will become effective and the board upland cotton diversion program will be available next year if at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve the quotas. This upland program would provide price support and diversion payments as well as loans.

MICRO NUTRIENTS IMPORTANT TO MODERN AGRICULTURE

All American farmers face the question that is brought about by increasing interest in the possibilities of minor element deficiencies. They are asking "will the use of premium grade fertilizer increase production high enough over regular fertilizer to justify the additional expense?" Interest among farmers in this subject has been reflected in the fertilizer industry of the manufacturing of premium grades for mineralized fertilizer. These premium grades usually cost the farmer from 5 to 10 per cent more than the corresponding non-premium or regular grades.

Mr. Harold Miller, Soil Specialist, University of Kentucky says that on minor element use these elements should be used only to remedy specific deficiency situations. The general use of minor element materials to meet non-specific crop requirements is not recommended.

They recommend the use of specific minor elements in a fertilization program to meet special plant requirements under special crop situations. Where these element deficiencies have been observed this probably will warrant such use. If a minor deficiency has not been demonstrated, there is no basis for a minor element recommendation, certainly a farmer should not add to his production cost unless he has a reasonable chance of getting returns from this expenditure. To say that the continued use of "mineralized" fertilizer will prevent minor element deficiencies from developing is not correct on the basis of present research findings. It is possible that where more is known about deficiencies the use of "mineralized" fertilizers could be warranted as an accepted practice.

Field trial reports indicate that the usual "mineralized" fertilizers do not contain sufficient minor elements to correct a real deficiency if it should exist. Of course, this does not apply to fertilizers that are compounded with some specific minor element or elements to meet a specific fertilization problem.

It is usually not recommended that mineralized fertilizers over regular fertilizers be used. It is recommended that the use of such minor elements be utilized to meet specific deficiencies.

An example of the need of mineral elements is boron on alfalfa, use of boron on alfalfa has been established primarily on the basis of widespread observance of typical boron deficiencies on this crop. The response to applications of boron on alfalfa demonstration fields indicate the need for this micro nutrient. As a result of these observations and demonstrations, it is known that the general recommendation for alfalfa in relation to boron is 20 to 30 pounds per year per acre. This boron can be applied most efficiently with the usual fertilizer top dressing. Use of boric fertilizer for this purpose is encouraged.

In general we think of hidden hunger as the area of production where plants look as if they are normal, but the soil does not have sufficient plant food for maximum yields.

Dr. W. L. Nelson of the American Potash Institute said that 40 per cent of our crops show deficiency symptoms, 50 per cent will have hidden hunger with only 10 per cent giving top yields.

There are many diagnostic tools available to determine hidden hunger and predict nutrient needs. Management is still a prime factor in drawing the proper conclusions for correcting problems before they happen.

SOUTH FULTON

viewed in the light of cash receipts and disbursements the cash collected from all sources of the general fund amounted to better than last year.

While the cash position in the general fund reveals a healthy financial growth and operation, it is in the operation of the natural gas system that the efficient methods of operation make the greatest impact.

Having changed the bookkeeping methods to machine tabulation in October 1965, the gas department showed an increase in sales revenue from $110,261.24 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965 to $127,190.62 at the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966.

While sales revenue increased approximately $17,000.00, the operating expenses and depreciation costs increased only $7500.00 showing a net profit percentage on sales of approximately 33 1/3 per cent. With other revenues the gas department showed a net profit of $34,997.81.

City Manager Henry Dunn, Jr. revealed to the News that the receipts from police fines were five times greater than they were a few years ago.

"This does not mean in any manner that there is more crime in South Fulton than there has been," he said. "It's just that we have tightened up our methods of handling the receivables on these fines," he added.

The robust financial condition of the City of South Fulton is even more significant when one considers that its total property valuation is only $1,437,915.00. Receipts from these assessments are as follows:

Real Estate	$31,845.99
Advalorem	3,392.42
Elec. System	4,315.18
	$39,553.59

While figures do not lie, and modern bookkeeping machines handle accounts accurately, the real story of South Fulton's rapid growth can be attributed to the dedication and constancy with which its public officials serve.

Mayor Rex Ruddle, Commissioners John Reeks and Harry Allison, keep in daily touch with the affairs of the city. The Commission is not averse to attempting bold, new programs for efficiency. If the programs fail, others are tried and thus the city moves along at a steady pace of progress.

Fast approaching the population figure of its neighboring half sister on the Kentucky side, South Fulton has dozens of development programs in the making. So numerous are they that this reporter will not mention them for fear of overlooking some of the unheralded, but yet significant ones that have not as yet been made public.

Indeed, the financial condition of the City of South Fulton shows that it is a community on the move.

'Slim' Williamson Honored For Distinguished Service

Thomas Reginald Williamson, a Fulton County farmer, received Kentucky Farm Bureau's eighth Distinguished Service to Farm Bureau award in Louisville, Tuesday. He was nominated by the Fulton County Farm Bureau.

The award is given annually to the person contributing most to agriculture in his community, county and state.

Williamson has been president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau for 12 years. He has also served the local Farm Bureau as secretary-treasurer, vice president and a member of the insurance board.

Born on a farm where his mother still resides in Fulton County, Williamson has been very active in 4-H Club work, being a 4-H Club sponsor, working with groups, District 4-H Club Council, attending all meetings of the county, state and district, and taking an active part in each.

When Fulton County Farm Bureau was organized, his father was one of the charter members. Williamson grew up with Farm Bureau and has put much of his time and effort into the organization. He is known as "Mr. Farm Bureau" in Fulton County.

He has been active in the field of education, one year supplying a bus and driver to transport children to school. He is active as a member of the Young Men's Business Club of Fulton, working with the Banana Festival's Good Will Program with the Latin American countries. This year the Williamsons are keeping two of the "amigos" in their home for two and a half weeks.

Williamson is a member of the Fulton County Sportsman Club, working closely with the Game and Wildlife officers. He is an active member of the First Methodist Church of Fulton. He is one of the original members of the Mississippi Area Development Program. Williamson started the idea of a Community House, using an abandoned school building. The local people met there for conferences, various farm meetings and the women used the building for their Homemakers meetings.

Williamson is a regular delegate to the Kentucky Farm Bureau convention.

He owns 333 acres and manages, as a partner, 323 more. All of his income is earned from farming.

He is married and he and his wife have three children.

That's Slim Williamson in the center, flanked by people who share with him the vitality of Farm Bureau work, his wife Katherine and his long-time friend County Agent John Watts.

Handbook For Loans, Jobs Is Available

The American Legion's education and scholarship handbook, "Need A Lift?", prepared as a service to students of veterans and non-veterans, which contains information about an estimated $2 billion worth of scholarships, loans and part-time jobs at colleges and vocational schools for qualified high school students has been presented to Fulton and South Fulton schools and Fulton Library by the Auxiliary of the Marshall Alexander Post 72 of the American Legion.

This annually revised publication for the 1966-67 school year is recognized as one of the most complete and up-to-date sources of career and scholarship information in the United States. The handbook does not limit its listings to children of veterans but contains scholarships and educational aids which are available to all students.

Mrs. Clyde Fields, Education and Scholarship Chairman of the Marshall Alexander Unit, stated that thousands of young people have not taken advantage of the generous educational aids which are available due to a failure to plan early for their future education.

She mentioned in particular the Junior GI Bill which provides up to $130 per month for four years of education help for sons and daughters of veterans who lost their lives or who were permanently and totally disabled as the result of military service. Although over $31,000,000 was available last year from this source alone, over half of the young people eligible for this help failed to apply, Mrs. Fields said.

Krider and Mofield Invited to Contribute To Forensics Text

Dr. Ray Mofield, department of communications head, and Mrs. Ruby Krider of the speech division, have been invited to complete a chapter each for a new textbook, "Directing the High School Forensic Program" which will be published soon.

Dr. Mofield has completed his chapter "Radio Speaking as a Contest Event."

Mrs. Krider, who is doing a chapter on oral interpretation, has had years of experience with high-school students at Grove High School, Paris, Tenn.

The editor of the new book is Dr. Lester Breniman, school of communications, Southern Illinois University.

"We want this to be a hand-book of practical advice for the beginning high-school coach — not high flown theory. That's the reason I wanted Ray Mofield to do radio and Mrs. Ruby Krider to do interpretation. They turn out winners, but they are down to earth," said Dr. Breniman.

Publication of the book is expected about Jan. 1.

Boy Dies In Farm Accident

HICKMAN, Ky. — A five-year-old Hickman boy was killed Tuesday afternoon when he fell from the back of a Jeep on a farm south of Hickman.

David Lusk reportedly was riding in the Jeep driven by Chris Ledwedge. The accident happened about 3 p.m.

Fulton County Coroner Don Chaney ruled the death as accidental. He said the boy apparently fell from the vehicle which was pulling a trailer loaded with corn.

The exact circumstances of the death are not known. Ledwedge discovered the boy was no longer in the Jeep and went back and found his body.

The child is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lusk of Hickman and grandmothers.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at West Hickman Baptist Church with the Rev. N. T. Patton and the Rev. Ralph Thomas officiating.

Summer Spanish Unit Given $77,000 Grant

A grant of $77,000 has been made to the department of modern foreign languages by the US Office of Education for an NDEA institute in Spanish next summer.

MSU has been granted the only NDEA foreign language institute in Kentucky, one of 16 Spanish institutes in the nation.

Of seven NDEA Institutes to be held in Kentucky during the summer of 1967, Eastern has been awarded four (English, reading) the University of Kentucky two (English, history), and Murray one (Spanish). The Murray Institute in Spanish will re-train the largest number of teachers of the seven in the state.

Fifty-four secondary school teachers of Spanish from the South and Midwest will be selected from an anticipated 500 applicants.

These teachers will get seven weeks of intensive training in speaking, reading, and writing Spanish, as well as in applied linguistics, Hispanic culture and civilization, and methodology (which will include observation of a demonstration class).

Each participant selected for the institute will receive a stipend of $75 a week, plus $15 a week for each dependent. Participants will reside in a "language house," take their meals together at "language tables," and will be required to speak Spanish at all times.

Prof. James A. Parr, head of the department of modern foreign languages, will be the institute director, and Mr. John Ferguson, assistant professor of Spanish will be the assistant director.

Mr. Parr, who is on leave of absence this semester to complete his doctoral dissertation will attend an institute director's meeting Friday and Saturday in Washington, D. C. The institute will begin June 12 and end July 28.

Louisville Troupe To Present Ballets On Campus Nov. 19

The Louisville Civic Ballet Company will appear here at 8 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Auditorium.

The Courier-Journal hailed a recent Civic Ballet performance as "a moving work of feeling and expression."

Mr. Lawrence Gradus, director of the company, choreographed two new ballets which are possible candidates for the Southeastern Regional Ballet Festival to be held in Miami in May.

The Civic Ballet Company will give more performances

Holiday Trim Comes Easy With Cutouts And Paste

The enchantment of Christmas is cherished for a lifetime, so make it memorable, glowing and full of wondrous things. This very special occasion belongs to the home and family, and the most precious moments are invariably those when the whole family takes part. This year, why not give the younger members an important role in the trimming activity. Results may not resemble Renoir, but what a canvas of fun-filled memories you will be painting for you and your loved ones.

One of the simplest ways to bring the youngsters in on the decorating project can be found at your food store, service station, or wherever you purchase the family refreshment. Cartons of Coca-Cola during the holidays will also contain folders with unique cutouts of Yuletide figures.

They're so simple to assemble. Just cut, score, fold and paste. Presto! You have a cheery Santa to top off a tray of goodies, a wise man in royal purple to preside over gifts on a party table. Give the traditional decorations a new look with angels of palest pink to hot orange, and deck the tree with colorful snowflakes, stars and partridges in pear trees.

Six different folders are available, each containing a different cutout figure and ideas of how to use them in a host of ways. Decorate the whole house with them at no cost and save the budget for costlier items.

If you can contain the youngsters' excitement, collect the various carton folders and reserve one night for a trimming session. Make it truly a family affair with everyone from the youngest to the eldest adding their artistry—good or bad, but nonetheless their own—and taking pride in their creations.

The suggestions in the folders can be an inspiration to countless decorative uses. Put your imagination to work. This kind of trim is more fun than work!
